LEAF, OJEN and the LAWS Program at the University of Toronto, Faculty of Law have partnered with law firms to offer this annual educational event for high school girls, highlighting women's careers in law. Thanks to the donation of seats by many of the attending law firms, unions, organizations and individuals, high school girls from across Ontario will start the day at the LEAF Persons Day Breakfast.

DID YOU KNOW...

◆ Ms. Lavell was the first woman to challenge the Indian Act for the discriminatory treatment of aboriginal women who married non-aboriginal men. Outraged by the injustice of losing her status, Ms. Lavell soon became central in one of the most controversial lawsuits in Canada, taking her case all the way to the Supreme Court!
